The topic

Since the introduction of ICT tools in healthcare, the new systems have mainly supported the existing workflows. We are entering now a new era where ICT innovations are modifying, with more depth, the core of the healthcare business. If Watson may be the flagship of this tendency, there are plenty of smaller innovations that are slowly changing the way medicine is performed. Innovation creates new opportunities, from patient empowerment to personalized medicine that may change forever the way healthcare system works.

What to submit

Innovation is a long journey going from the lab to the market. We are interested here to explore all stages of innovation projects that are related to medical IT.

Topics tackled during the 2017 sessions

1. Practical implementation examples
2. How innovation is changing the care processes
3. Involving user in the innovation process
4. Learning from mistakes
5. Bringing healthcare innovation from the lab to the market

Why to submit

Building your network: Submitting a paper to the SGMI is the best way to get in touch with the Swiss community of medical informatics.

Confront your idea to the market: By presenting your work you will be able to confront against the Swiss medical IT market and understand whether your research is in line with the development of the market.

A launching pad for your research: For young researcher this is a unique occasion to submit their work in your native language and prepare yourself for the work at a larger scale.

Presenting authors can join the whole congress with no fees.

How to submit

Submit your non-commercial contribution in your native language on www.medical-informatics.ch. Read carefully the instructions for authors; adding an abstract in English is mandatory. Several categories (e.g. congress contribution, poster, extended abstract, full paper) are offered for your contribution. Submissions will be reviewed by the congress committee and selected e.g. for oral presentations or the poster session. Awards are given for selected contributions.

Until when submit

Submission deadline is June 4th 2017
